THE GAZETTE.

TUESDAY OCTOBER 4.

THE TENNESSEE ELECTION.

Several days ago, the Gazette printed the substance of the following note from the Hartford Courant:

Miss Frances E. Willard writes from Nashville to the New York Voice that 110 of the 140 newspapers of the state are for the amendment; that the white ministers of the state—"Episcopalians excepted"—are solid for it; that lawyers are the same; that the colored preachers and teachers of the state are the same; and that an overwhelming majority of the democratic party of the state will vote for it. She is sorry to hear that as much cannot be said of the republican party; but notwithstanding the republican opposition, she finds a general belief among the prohibitionists that they have at least a fighting chance. Were it not for three things the chance would be a certainty. These are the disfranchisement of the women, the uncertainty as to the negro vote, and the possible effect of the "four-mile law."

The Gazette at the time charged that Miss Willard's statement that the republican party of Tennessee was opposed to the amendmontand that the democratis party was for it, was untrue. Some of the third party prohibitionists were offended because the Gazette saw fit to nail this falsehood at the first opportunity Now the election has been held, and let us see who is right, the Gazette or Miss Willard.

All the returns have not been received from Tennessee, but so far as heard from, the amendment has been defeated by a majority of from 18,000 to 25,000. Well, now about the parties in the contest for prohibition? Here are the facts. There were 29 democratic counties which gave a majority against the amendment, and only 9 for it. This does not bear out the statement of Miss Willard that an "overwhelming majority of the democratic party of the state would vote for the amendment.

Then on the other hand there were only 5 republican counties which gave majorities against the amendment, while so far as heard from 21 republican counties gave majorities for it. This shows that Miss Willard either took pains to misrepresent the republican party on the question of the amendment, or that she wrote on something that she did not understand.

It has been the campaign tactics of the third party prohibitionists to slander and libel the republican party almost constantly. They will go out of their way to find a lie and then they will repeat it on the stump and in their newspapers. When they are doing this dirty work, they know full well that it is next to an impossibility to carry a prohibition amendment in a state which is democratic, and they also know that all the states where constitutional prohibition has been carried, are republican states.

Will the third party prohibitionists try to fit these facts with their oft-repeated libels against the republican party?

The late Vice-President Hendricks, whom Cleveland glorified at Indianapolis, was so extreme a democratic partisan during the slave-holders' rebellion that he was especially offensive to the 225,000 republicans of that state, And Senator Voorhees, whom he praised at Terre Haute, was a Knight of the Golden Circle, a treasonable organization during the darkest days of the rebellion.

The partisan tendency of the president's remarks would not have been so obvious had he alluded to the patriotic services of Oliver P. Morton, a governor so distinguished, so true, and so useful in those days of treachery and disloyalty that he is classed in American history as a war governor. He met and overcame the efforts of Hendricks and Voorhees to place Indiana in a position of hostility to the war.—Evening Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin must be charitable toward the president. It is not likely that he ever heard of that splendid politi.al hero and war governor, Oliver P. Morton, and of course the men engaged in putting speeches in the president's month were once copperheads, and would not mention such a loyal man as Morton. Mr. Cleveland, standing on the spot where Morton did his most distinguished services for the Union, was no more moved to utter a sentiment in honor of the great man than he was at Gettysburg, not long ago to utter a sentiment in honor of the men who fell in that great battle. When some one was pointing out to Cleveland the place where Pickett made his matchless and deathly charge, he seemed cold and indifferent and stopped the proceedings by saying "let us go and get some lunch."

The following dispatch comes from Leavenworth, Kansas:

Col. D. R. Anthony has disposed of his newspaper plant, the Leavenworth Times, to a syndicate of New England people represented by W. R. Rice, of Kansas City. The managing editor in the future will be E. A. Smith, of the Boston Journal, and E. N. Dingley, son of Congressman Dingley, of Maine, will be connected with the paper. The price paid was $100,000. It is the intention of the present proprietors to enlarge and improve it. Col. Anthony has been connected with the press of Kansas ever since 1857.

A good many people will feel glad over the news that Colonel Anthony is out of the newspaper business. The old man has had a stormy life since 1857. He went to Kansas at a time when it gave a man's backbone the severest test to be an out spoken republican. He is belligerent by nature, and consequently he rushed into many personal altercations, and has been knocked down, thrashed on the street, dragged out of his office and shot several times. The last bullet his body received was only a few years ago, and for some time Mr. Anthony's life lingered upon a very slender thread. He recovered, but was not in frame of mind after that to do much newspaper fighting and so he had been trying to sell his paper for some time. He is a man of wonderful courage and of much ability, and it is hoped that there is some rest for the old man after such a long life of heavy responsibilitirs and many ups and downs. He is a brother of Mrs. Susan B. Anthony.

Probably the first legal cause ever argued and decided on a railroad train in this portion of the northwest was witnessed Thursday by the passengers on the Milwaukee-bound train between Fennimore and Montford, in this state. It was the opening day of the regular term of the Iowa county circuit court. Judge George Clementson presiding, and the train was crowded with lawyers, witnesses and jurors going to the county seat at Dodgeville. Among the passengers were Judge Clementson and Attorneys Wilson, of Boscobel and Evans of Prairie du Chien. Their purpose was to argue at Dodgeville a motion that had been set for hearing in chambers at Lancaster, but which had been postponed. The accommodating judge listened to the arguments of the counsel, and before Montford was reached gave his decision in the case, which was adverse to the motion. By this opportune hearing the attorneys were enabled to return home at once without being obliged to go to Dodgeville. The informal manner of holding court was the cause of no little amusement among the passengers.

The Chattanooga Tradesman in its quarterly review of the industrial situation at the south, says that there has been no check to the wondtful industrial development." It adds that "crops everywhere in the south are about the average, and the general volume of busines is increased. Up to a fortnigh ago money was easy, and while collections are somewhat slower now, the movement of crops will improve the financial situation. The industrial situation is very active and manufacturers are crowded with orders, and the largest iron works are running on double time. Railroad bui - ing is in active progress in many of the southern states, and the rolling mills in Chattanooga and Birmingham have orders for months ahead." Nothing like this was ever known in the south under free trade and slavery.

Mr. Cleveland has stooped to do smaller and more undignified things than any other president: "President Cleveland is allowing himself to be interviewed by a New York reporter, broke an unwritten law among the presidents of the past. Not one of his predecessors found it necessary to publish a long newspaper article in defense of his cause. No other president ever allowed himself to be interviewed for the purpose of informing the public that he was a candidate for another term. By the time Cleveland gets out a year from next March there will be but little respect left for the executive of this nation, or but little dignity in the position."

Governor Rusk, having been accused of scheming to take the wind out of Gen. Fairchild's sails as a vice presidential candidate, the Oshkosh Northwestern says: "Gen. Fairchild has publicly stated that he is not a candidate for any place on the national ticket, and as the chances are now excellent for Governor Rusk's nomination for the presidency, it is hardly probable that any vice-presidential aspirations could be entertained by another man from the same state."

The progress of reform in Philadelphia, from the Press: "If Mr. Cleveland will look the situation squarely in the face he will easily realize that it is no longer a question of how to keep the Philadelphia postoffice, mint and custom house out of politics, but how to keep politics out of them. All three institutions have become thoroughly saturated with the worst ooze of machine democracy."

Having an eye to business: "The reason said to be assigned by the general superintendent of the Northwestern road for refusing to allow the transfer of the presidential train to the Union depot in Milwaukee, and thus allow the party to come over the Watertown division of the St. Paul road to Madison, is that the company is using the president as an advertisement dodge, and does not propose to be snubbed out of it."

Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland, sister of President Cleveland, arrived in New York last week, and began her new duties as teacher of American history in a young ladies' boarding school near Central Park. Just why Miss Rose wasn't invited to swing around the circle, is not understood, unless that Mrs. Cleveland has no honors to divide with a sister-in-law.

The president smiled all over when he heard the Grand Army veterans were in the mud at St. Louis. Next year the Grand Army men will smile all over, too-when they see Mr. Cleveland so deep in political mud that his party can't extricate him. And there is where he will be.

Mr. I. J. Mack, editor of the Sandusky Register, and a good political authority, says Governor Foraker's majority will be from 25,000 to 30,000. Mr. Cleveland will learn in less than five weeks that when he snubbed Governor Foraker he snubbed the state of Ohio.

I have not used all of one bottle yet. I suffered from catarrh for twelve years, experiencing the nauseating dropping in the throat peculiar to that disease, and nose bleed almost daily. I tried various remedies without benefit until last April, when I saw Ely's Cream Balm advertised in the Boston Budget. I procured a bottle, and since the first days' use have had no more bleeding—the soreness is entirely gone.—D. G. Davidson with the Boston Budget, formerly with Boston Journal.

KNIGHTS IN SESSION.

The Great Labor Convention Opens at Minneapolis.

WELCOMING SPEECHES AND RESPONSES.

Chief Powderly, in His Annual Address, Favors Restricted Immigration and Denounces Anarchists and Intemperance.

THE KNIGHTS MEET.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—The General Assembly of Knights of Labor was called to order in Washington rink yesterday morning by P. J. McGaughey, Secretary of the Co-operative Board, and Chairman of the local Committee of Arrangements. The rink was handsomely decorated and contained about 3,000 people. Mr. McGaughey read telegrams from Mr. Powderly and Secretary Litchman stating that they had been unavoidably delayed and would not arrive for some hours. Governor McGill had been called East, and was not able to make the address of welcome on the part of the State. Mr. McGaughey made brief remarks on the growth of the order in the Northwest, and introduced Mayor Ames, who made a formal address of welcome.

Richard Griffiths, General Worthy Foreman, responded in Mr. Powderly's absence. He was followed by A. A. Carlton, of the General Executive Board, who spoke particularly of the growth of the order, and said it would appear when the reports were all in that the order was not going to pieces, but was in reality stronger than ever. He declared that so long as the many were deprived of the rightful share of the products of their toil the order would have work to do.

Ralph Beaumont, of New York was the next speaker. He said that the work of the Knights of Labor had just begun, and predicted that if the order should go down a grander and stronger organization would take its place. Richard Trevelly concluded the morning session with a short speech pledging the order to the support of American principles and American institutions, and the convention adjourned till 3 o'clock.

General Master-Workman T. V. Powderly, General Secretary H. Litchman and most of the other delayed delegates arrived yesterday afternoon. The great hall, capable of seating 15,000 people, was crowded at the time of the opening of the evening exercises. On the platform were the prominent leaders of the organization. J. P. McGaughey, secretary of the Co-operative Board and a prominent Minneapolis Knight, presided, and made a brief opening address. General Master-Workman Powderly's address on "The World as Knighthood Would Make It," was received with unbounded enthusiasm. After a few introductory remarks he said:

"Men say the Knights can never attain what is aimed at in their declaration of principles. Then they go to church and pray for better things than the Knights ever dreamed of. Knighthood would not pave the streets with gold. The men who pray that this earth be made as the Kingdom of Heaven would deny us a place in legislative halls. The Knights of Labor respect the law and they intend to take a hand in making the laws.

"How many millionaires are there in this room to-night? [Laughter.] Not one. Well, how many men and women of moderate means? I would not ask you to stand up, for that would get you all on your feet. We intend to educate our people so that they will be able and fit to take high positions in life. Our organization is not a partisan organization, but in the true sense of the word it is a political organization. The man who studies with us will be able to vote intelligently; if he is not there is some thing wrong with his head.

"It has been charged that I did not favor immigration. It is a mistake. I am of foreign birth myself. I was not born early enough to keep my father from coming to this country. I would not have done so if I could. I have no objection to foreign immigration. I favor it. Every land-grant company has its immigration agents. They bring in all manner of foreigners. If one of these poor creatures raises his hand not against law, for he knows none, but against what he sees just before him he is called an Anarchist and is punished, while the men who loaded these poor creatures on this country go scot-free. [Thunderous applause.] I hate anarchy and and I hate Anarchists.

"How can the child reared in poverty, squalor, ignorance and vice grow up to respect the institutions of his country? When I say, stop the agent of the steamship company, take home the agent of the land company, stop importing foreign paupers, let only those come to our free America who come of their own will to make their homes here, is that saying any thing against a foreigner? [Cries of "No, no."] I thought you'd say so. This is why I was called a crank on the immigration question.

"I am also called a crank on the temperance question. I may be a crank on this question, but I am not ashamed to say that I would far rather see a man a sober man than a drunkard. It is better to educate our children to be temperate than to be drunkards. There's not a man living who will say that it's right to bring into the home that which damns the head of the family. There are those who have threatened to leave the order because of my position on this question. I say to all who would withdraw for such a cause, 'go.' I'll trust the fate of this Nation with sober men and women. I'll never take back one word of what I have said on the temperance question, so help me God. The time will come when the workers of all kinds and classes will be banded together for a common purpose.

"Now, my friends, I have done. It would be a pleasure to speak at greater length on our principles, to tell you more in detail of the world as knighthood would make it, but I hope that every Knight will leave this house to-night determined to do his whole duty. I would have you educate yourselves for the duties of this world. Let every man, woman and child in this audience leave this place to-night resolving to do this. It is your duty; see to it that it is well done. Let every man and woman read and lay to heart the declaration of principles of this order. Let them do this, and when their work is over they can lie down, as did that dead workman of whom I have just spoken, conscious that their work has been done, and well done."

After the close of the exercises a grand ball was held. The regular session of the assembly will begin this morning. A lively time is expected when the Committee on Credentials presents its report.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Eclectric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnic Salve at 25 cents per box, by Frank Sherer & Co.

THE MILWAUKEE BANQUET.

The shades of night were falling fast,
As through Milwaukee city passed
A youth who bore mid snow and ice,
A banner stating that the price
Was twelve dollars a ticket.

His brow was dark; his eye below
Was cold and cheerless as the snow.
And all who heard the words were said—
It might be said—were very mad
At twelve dollars a ticket.

Across the street he saw a light.
Within were several persons tight
Who thought the proper recompense
Should be, by rights, say fifty cents
Instead of twelve dollars a ticket.

"Give me a pass," one man did say,
"I've voted oft on 'lection day,
"So have we all" came deep and wide,
"We can't get in," each one loud sighed
"At twelve dollars a ticket."

The dealer's breast was filled with cheer
To see her patrons filled with beer;
His lot it was to be in clover
Because his guests could not see Grover
At twelve dollars a ticket.

Behold this spare and hungry bunch
Who want to share the Cleveland lunch.
But no, a tear adorns each eye
As they are duly notified
Ed—"Twelve dollars a ticket."

While they are in their deep distress
Both dolor-ous and dollar-less,
One hears the gentle footsteps fall
In Plankinton's large dining hall,
At twelve dollars per ticket—

Of democrats of high degree
In silks and kids and dignity;
And mugwumps, too, about de Butter,
Sighing for Cleveland's bread and butter,
Paying twelve dollars per ticket.

At break of day when homeward bound,
Tangled footsteps are heard to sound;
And voices thick ejaculate
In tones disgusted and irate,
We paid twelve dollars a ticket.

What ails these scattered statesmen's heads?
Who'll put them in their little beds?
Is the affliction something new?
Nought but acute tic-dollar-eux,
Nought but twelve dollars per ticket.

They've caught a cold—their speech is thick
Themselves they zealously do kick;
To them there comes no sure relief,
For their in-dolor-able grief
At paying twelve dollars per ticket.

They've not been tickled with a straw
Nor filled with physic or the law;
Nor satisfied like a girl who
Has come to own a doll-er two—
But paid twelve dollars per ticket.

Thus in the morning, cold and dry
Not dead or beautiful they lie;
And from below, (a long way down,)
There comes a voice heard through the town,
I paid twelve dollars per ticket.

MILITARY AT CHICAGO.

The International Encampment Formally Opened.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The International Military encampment at the Chicago Driving Park (West side) has already assumed the aspect and the proportions of a great "tented field," many military organizations having already arrived, and others are en route. The encampment was formally opened yesterday afternoon, and will continue until October 20. It has been named "Camp Sheridan." At 2 o'clock p. m., yesterday the camp was declared opened amid the boom of cannon, the tooting of horns, and the other noises that make successful a military event and fill with awe the mind of the unthinking multitude. There was a big crowd present, despite the sogginess of the ground and the high, cold wind that was blowing at the time. Thirty-eight guns were fired in honor of the States of the Union, nobody apparently thinking of the Territories, and all the soldiers on the ground were gathered around the big flag-staff. The band played the "Star-Spangled Banner," and Mayor Roche was introduced and made a speech welcoming the visitors to Chicago.

This finished the opening ceremonies. Then followed the first dress parade of the encampment, in which all the troops took part and acquitted themselves creditably. Three thousand persons witnessed the ceremonies.

As far as can be ascertained now the skeleton of the programme from this time on will be something like the following:

October 4—First day of competitive infantry drill in battalion and company; first great mass concert under the leadership of Dr. M. Ourer. October 5—President's day; grand review of troops and sham battle. October 6—Beginning of artillery competition. October 7—Cavalry drills. October 8—Exhibition drills; grands mass concert; brigade dress parade. October 9—Religious field service and sacred concert. October 10—Opening of band contests. October 11—Exhibition drill and sham battle. October 12—Individual drills; grand brigade dress parade and distribution of prizes. October 13-20—Rifle competitions.

AFFAIRS IN THE ORIENT.

Carter Harrison at Yokohama—Opposition to the Mitkiewicz Scheme—Concession to Railway Constructors in China—Cowen's New Minister to the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—The steamship Oceanic, which arrived yesterday from China and Japan, brings advices from Hong Kong up to September 9. Ex-Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, has arrived at Yokohama, and much opposition was developing to the Mitkiewicz scheme. President Yan, of the Board of Revenue, had urged the Empress not to sanction the proposed concession. The China Merchants' Company repudiates all connection with the syndicate. English interests were working hard to frustrate the American capitalists.

It was reported that China had granted a sixteen-year concession to the Great Northern Telegraph Company and Eastern Extension Company to build an extension of the Imperial China Telegraph to Kalgan and Kiachta, giving a direct route from China to Great Britain.

Corea had appointed Park Chening Yaud as Minister to the United States; also Ministers to England, France, Germany and Russia.

Stanley Undoubtedly Safe.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Advices from Africa show that Stanley about July 25 had ascended the Aruwimi to an elevated country belonging to the Mabodi district. The country was tranquil and the natives friendly. Tippoo Tab was still at Stanley Falls waiting for reinforcements. There had been disturbances between the falls and the confluence of the Aruwimi and Congo, some villages being pillaged.

Our Schools.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The report of the Commissioner of Education for the fiscal year has been completed. The report shows that the condition and progress hitherto characteristic of American education have been in general maintained during the year. Occasional instances of retrogression and reaction have been more than balanced by healthy growths and judicious improvements.

A Memorial Gift from a Chicagoan.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 4.—Henry W. Bishop, a native of Berkshire County and a citizen of Chicago, proposes to erect and equip at a cost of not less than $25,000 a training school for nurses in connection with the Pittsfield House of Mercy. He does this as a memorial of his son, who died about two years ago while attending Williams College.

Bancroft's Birthday.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 4.—George Bancroft, the venerable historian, passed his 87th birthday yesterday. Congratulatory messages from all over the country and from abroad were sent to him at his cottage in this city where he now resides. His neighbors filled his house with floral tributes and decorations. At night he entertained a few friends in honor of the event.

Race Troubles in Mississippi.

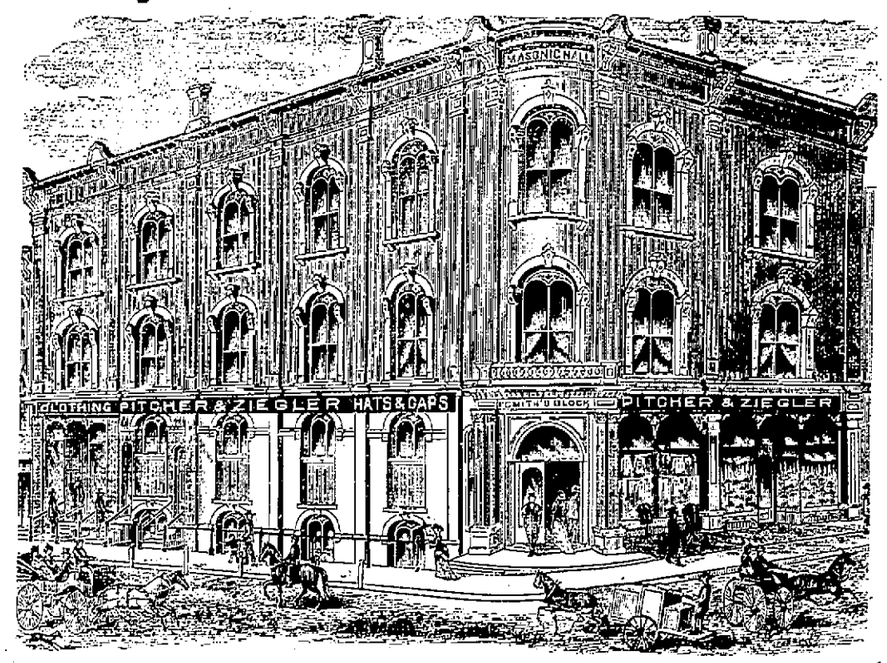

BROOK HAVEN, Miss., Oct. 4.—There is said to be trouble brewing between negroes and whites about twenty miles south-east of here, on the line of Pike and Lawrence counties. About 300 men of each color are said to be under arms. Several armed whites from here have gone to the scene. The origin of the quarrel is not stated.

WM BLADON, SECRETARY.

JOHN C. SPENCER, CITY EDITOR.

A BUSY MONDAY.

The President Spends a Rather Lively Day in St. Louis.

HE TAKES A DRIVE THROUGH THE CITY.

Visits to the Fair and Exposition—He Speaks at the Merchants' Exchange, Also at a Democratic Club's Serenade.

FESTIVITIES AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Yesterday morning President and Mrs. Cleveland were driven to the Fair grounds, where 3,000 schoolchildren sang "America" to them in the charming style only known to children.

The distinguished visitors did not alight at the Fair grounds. After driving around the amphitheater a halt was made and a handsome basket of flowers was presented to Mrs. Cleveland by the lady superintendent of the Kindergarten schools. The children, led by the bands, then sang as above stated and the cortege returned to the city, where they went directly to the Merchants' Exchange. Mrs. Cleveland did not accompany the President to the Exchange, but was left en route at the residence of the mayor, whence she went to that of Mrs. Scanlan, a society leader, where the ladies of St. Louis had an opportunity to pay their respects.

On the President's arrival at the Exchange, which was jammed to its utmost capacity, he was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm which he gracefully acknowledged. Mr. Frank Gaiennie, President of the Merchants' Exchange, introduced Mayor Francis, and declared this the most auspicious day of St. Louis within her history. Mayor Francis then formally welcomed the President to the city and State, and after another explosion of cheers the President responded as follows:

"If I am expected to make an extended speech on this occasion, I am afraid that I shall disappoint you; and this I should be sorry to do, after having succeeded at last, though much tribulation, in standing face to face with my St. Louis friends. The tribulation of which I speak has arisen from the extreme kindness of a vast number of the American people and the cordial invitations they have tendered me, to stop and see them on my way to you. My own inclination leading me in the direction of their desires, it has been a difficult matter to resist their importunities, but I have made up my mind that the people of St. Louis are to blame for the entire perplexity and disappointment which this latter has caused, for it was through them that I was induced to leave home at all. I expect that any thing I might say concerning your State or your city in the way of laudation or congratulation would hardly equal your own estimate of these subjects. I believe there was a time when St. Louis was a determined and jealous rival of Chicago. I don't know whether this condition continues or not; but I hope it does. While you can hardly expect lookers-on to take sides in such a contest we are interested to the extent that such a struggle adds to the growth and improvement of the country at large. Both of these cities exemplify in a wonderful degree how completely and how speedily American energy and business ingenuity utilizes every available element of municipal growth, and how every useful type of the world's population is assimilated to be the grand purpose of American expansion. I am here reminded of what I suppose to be the fact that more than one-half of your voters are of foreign birth and parentage. The growth and increase of your city in every way indicate, I think, that the condition of your population, thus made apparent, is by no means to be deprecinted; and my observation during a long residence in a city similarly situated has led me to know the value to any community of the industrious, frugal and thrifty men and women who come from foreign lands to find new homes with us; who invest themselves with our citizenship, and who are satisfied and content with the freedom of our Government, and with our laws and institutions. The line is easily drawn between them and the non-assimilating emigrants who seek our shores solely for purposes involving disturbance and disadvantage to our body politic. I hope I may, without impropriety, say this much in recognition of what has been done for St. Louis by its naturalized citizens, as well as in remembrance of many kind and valued friends and associates of former days."

The President concluded by thanking the citizens for their efforts to make his visit a pleasant one, and was loudly cheered at the end of his address.

During the President's remarks he was frequently interrupted by applause, the enormous crowd present continuing their demonstrations of approval for several minutes when he concluded. After the members of the party had left the lexchange they were taken for a drive about the city for an hour in half a dozen carriages which were in waiting.

There was one continued cheer along the entire route. The procession of carriages was led and followed by a strong guard of mounted police. Reaching the Lindell Hotel at 2 p. m., the streets were so blocked with people that it took some time to force the carriages of the party through the entrance. As soon as the President reached the quarters which had been reserved for him he partook of luncheon and afterwards made his preparations for the public reception, which began at 3 p. m. and continued until 6. While the reception was in progress there was a steady stream of people passing by, and when 6 o'clock arrived there appeared to be as many more waiting to pay their respects. Washington avenue was literally packed for blocks during the reception hours, and at its close there was no perceptible change in the appearance of the crowd.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland received in the middle of the large parlor adjoining the dining-room hallway, standing during the three hours beneath a richly-decorated chandelier. Mrs. Cleveland was magnificently attired in a rich blue surah silk with red rose and green-leaf figures. Standing in the brilliant reflection of the massive chandelier with her robe cut medium decollete, a profusion of lace about her throat caught with a simple diamond pendant, and full lace sleeves, she presented a picture which captivated all who had the good fortune to reach her. The only charm she wore about her neck was a string of coral beads recently presented to her. The scenes during the reception were very novel.

Promptly at 7:30 the Presidential party, consisting of nine persons, accompanied by a local committee and their wives, was driven from the Lindell Hotel through the illuminated streets to the Exposition Building. During the entire trip of the party the wildest enthusiasm prevailed. The streets were packed from house to house leaving but a narrow opening for the train of carriages. The illumination, the exposition and the street scenes combined made one of the grandest pictures ever witnessed in this section. The great surprise announced for this evening at the exposition proved to be the sudden appearance on the stage of a life-size oil painting of Mrs. Cleveland, the production of a Washington artist. The President and Mrs. Cleveland were especially pleased with this feature, and spent considerable time viewing it through opera glasses. The party remained at Music Hall but about twenty minutes. Then they returned to the Lindell where they were serenaded by the Hendricks Democratic Association. So great was the crowd in the vicinity of the hotel that it required nearly a half hour's time to work the carriages through the entrance. After the serenade by the Hendricks Club the President was introduced by Colonel David Caruth and spoke as follows:

"FELLOW CITIZENS: For the compliment you have tendered as you may be sure we are duly appreciative and grateful. I am glad to believe that the heartiness of your demonstration betrays to some extent your Democratic enthusiasm. I feel like confessing to you to-night that what I have seen of this vast country and its people since I left home has, if possible, increased my sense of responsibility as a public officer, and as a member of a great political party. My official duty I owe to all the people of the land, and whether it is well or ill performed primarily concerns them, and me as their public servant. But I can not fail in my duty to the country without discrediting you and the party of my choice. These considerations should constrain me to that course of official conduct, out by the needs of the people and the good of the country, This tends, in my opinion, directly to the adoption of the principles and practices of true Democracy. It behooves us all to guard against a blind, selfish and unreasonable party feeling, regardless and thoughtless of the country's welfare, and which leads us away from good citizenship as well as true Democracy."

At the conclusion of the President's speech the serenade was continued by singing by the Liederkranz Society, music by the band, etc. A long procession, consisting of probably 30,000 men, then passed up Washington avenue and was reviewed by the President. The procession was still passing the Lindell at 12:30. At that hour Mrs. Cleveland retired, but the President, bent upon seeing the day through, was still standing on the reviewing stand bowing his acknowledgments to the enthusiastic cheers of the marchers.

According to the estimate of Mr. Lamont, private secretary, the President shook hands with 9,000 people at the reception yesterday, and many thousands of disappointed ones remained when the doors were closed.

PREPARATIONS ELSEWHERE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—About fifty members of the Iroquois Club, the leading Democratic organization of this city, departed for St. Louis last evening, and will escort the President to this city to-morrow morning. Merchants throughout the city are engaged in decorating their places of business, and nearly all of the handsome residences along the line of march will be radiant in their display of the National colors, etc. The rotunda of the Palmer House, where the public reception will be held, is being heavily draped in bunting, while the display of flowers will be one of the most magnificent ever witnessed in this city. After the performance at the Columbia Theater is ended to-night, an army of workmen will take possession, and the work of decorating the place for the card reception to-morrow evening will be commenced. A handsome arch is being erected at the corner of State and Monroe streets.

The landau in which the President and his wife are to be conveyed through the streets is is one of the finest vehicles in Chicago, and cost $1,500. It will be drawn by four magnificent bays of the purest blooded stock. Each is above sixteen hands high, and one has drawn first prize as the handsomest carriage horse in the State. The others are equal to him in size and beauty, although they have not been placed on exhibition at State fairs. The prize winner can not be purchased for $3,000, and the other three are held at $2,500 each. The quartette would readily bring $10,000. The reins will be handled by Benjamin Ransom, one of the veteran Everymen of the city. It is expected that there will be at least 35,000 men in line during the parade.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 4.—Mayor Wallber has issued a proclamation recommending the observance of a half holiday on Thursday, October 6, the occasion of President Cleveland's visit, and requests the closing of factories, banks, offices, stores and workshops, and the general intermission of all business on the afternoon of Thursday next. He suggests, also, that the houses along the route of the procession be decorated and be illuminated toward evening, thus adding to the cheerful beauty of the city and making the President feel that he is welcome.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 4.—Nearly all arrangements are completed for welcoming President Cleveland and wife. Four large arches have been erected at the corners of Capital Park, depots have been gaily festooned, business houses and private residences are being hung with bunting, the Capitol is embellished lavishly, and many other decorations have been or are being made. The President will arrive at 1 o'clock p. m. October 7, and after the procession will ascend to the platform at the east portal of the Capitol. There Chief-Justice Cole, of the Supreme Court, will make an address of welcome, which may be supplemented by Governor Rusk and Mayor Conklin. The President will reply, after which the party will enter the State House, where a public reception, with handshaking, will occur. The evening of October 7 will be quietly spent at the Postmaster General's, and next morning in fishing on Lake Mendota. On the evening of October 8 Postmaster General Vilas will tender another reception at his residence. The President has not signified his intention of attending service in any church Sunday morning, October 9.

Indicted for Libeling Vilas.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—William Welch, an eccentric lawyer here, formerly of Madison, Wis., has been indicted by the grand jury for libeling Postmaster-General Vilas in a little sheet called the Home Diary, which Welch publishes. In this paper Welch has charged Mr. Vilas with wrecking the Madison Mutual Insurance Company and embezzling its funds. The two are old enemies, and Welch promises to bring witnesses from Madison to prove all he says.

Duel to the Death Over a Young Lady.

LEBANON, Ky., Oct. 4.—While talking to a young lady in a hotel parlor here just after dinner yesterday Clement Rawlings, justice of the peace, and Edgar Beard had a dispute. Pistols were drawn and firing began in the parlor, only ending when both parties had retreated to the street and Rawlings lay dead on the sidewalk.

Another Haymarket Riot Promised.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Tribune says that the Socialists and Anarchists are determined to hold a meeting in Union Hill on Wednesday night in spite of the police interdiction, and that a conflict and a repetition of the Haymarket tragedy in Chicago are probable.

The First Case on Record.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 4.—Father McTighe, a Catholic priest, was elected principal of the Thirty-first ward public school last night. It is believed to be the first time on record that a Catholic priest has consented to fill a similar position in the public schools.

Ironworks Closed Through a Coal Strike.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 4.—The Springfield rolling-mill has been obliged to shut down on account of the strike of the coal miners in this district. About 1,000 men are thrown out of employment.

Supposed Loss of an Ocean Steamer.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—The British steamer Reuper, from Carthagena for this city, with a crew of thirty-two men, is believed to have gone to the bottom with all on board.

Spanish Soldiers Off for Morocco.

MADRID, Oct. 4.—The first draft of Spanish soldiers, comprising 6,000, has embarked for Morocco in order to protect Spain's interests there. The Government fears anarchy owing to the death of the Sultan.

Lost $18,000 in the State Fair.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 4.—The State Fair Association finds itself $18,000 in debt from the disastrous failure of the fair this year. The amount has been advanced to the association by John W. Bunn, of this city.

Bond Offerings.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The total amount of bonds offered to the Government yesterday was $295,750, of which $242,500 were 4½ per cents, and $53,250 were 4s.

BALEFUL BLASTS.

The Recent Gales on the Lakes Prove Very Disastrous.

MANY VESSELS WERE WRECKED.

The Schooners Havana and City of Green Bay Go to Pieces—Their Captains and Seven Sailors Perish—Other Disasters.

NINE LIVES LOST.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Oct. 4.—The schooner Havana, ore laden, bound from Escanaba to St. Joseph, hove in sight as this port and dropped anchor a few miles out at about 11 o'clock Sunday night. Two hours previous a heavy southwest gale set in after a thunder-storm, causing the vessel to leak badly. The crew worked all night at the pumps and with buckets. About 6 o'clock yesterday morning, when five miles off, work was suspended and the cable slipped to go ashore. About a mile from shore the schooner struck bottom, parting in the center. Her stern portion rolled over, carrying with it Captain John Curran, Seaman Joseph Clint and the cook, Joseph Morse, the latter from Benton Harbor. The forward part went down with part of the mast out of the water. The first mate, Samuel McClimen, and seamen Charles Hager, George Shields and P. H. McCormick took to the cross-trees. The life-saving crew was unable to render them any aid, although strenuous efforts were made to do so. Meantime the fishing-tug Hannah Sullivan, Captain Charles Mollihagen and a volunteer crew of seven men, steamed up and went to their rescue, bringing back the four men last named. The others were lost.

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., Oct. 4.—The schooner City of Green Bay, laden with iron ore and bound from Escanaba to St. Joseph, Mich., was driven ashore at 8 o'clock yesterday morning one and a half miles south of this point. Captain Costello and five of the crew were drowned. One man, A. T. Slater, of St. Joseph, was saved by the life-saving crew. Captain Cross, of the life-saving station, was thrown from a surf-boat and had three ribs broken in trying to reach the vessel. The schooner went to pieces and is a total wreck.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 4.—Monday's gale extended over the entire chain of lakes. It was the severest thus far this season and from reports received the most disastrous. At Milwaukee Sunday night the wind attained a velocity of forty-eight miles an hour. All day Monday the gale continued, but had somewhat abated, although still being between thirty and forty miles an hour. No disasters to Milwaukee vessels have so far been reported. Several badly damaged vessels were towed into this port yesterday.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The lumber-laden barge C. L. Hutchinson foundered off this port yesterday afternoon. When she began breaking up the captain, crew of six men and the female cook managed to launch a yawl and get away just as the stern of the barge broke off. They reached here about dark, coming safely through the awful storm by a miracle.

SAND BEACH, Mich., Oct. 4.—The schooner Annie P. Crover, with 22,000 bushels of oats from Chicago to Port Huron, is ashore on a rocky bottom at Port Hope, and a tug has gone to her rescue. The Canadian steamer Ark and consort Albion are ashore at Grindstone City; no particulars. A heavy gale is blowing from the southwest on Lake Huron.

GERMANY'S GRAB.

Uncle Sam Will Not Interfere with the Troubles of the Samoans.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Secretary Bayard, in an interview regarding Germany and the Samoan Islands said he thought the Germans had treated the Samoans harshly. The statement that the Samoans were arming to repel the Germans was absurd, since the islands do not contain more than 2,000 people and these were poorly armed. The United States has no treaty with Samoa which would make it necessary to interfere to protect the autonomy of the islands. The treaty which we have simply guarantees the use of harbor and coaling stations for our naval vessels. The Secretary stated that he was notified a week ago that Germany would take this step, but was assured that America's interest in the island would be protected, and that it was not the intention to annex the islands, but only to punish King Malietoa for alleged injustice to German residents. So long as American interests are not molested the Secretary could not see that there was any call for interference on the part of the Government.

Base-Ball.

National League games on Monday resulted as follows: At Indianapolis—Chicago, 8; Indianapolis, 2. At Pittsburgh—Detroit, 10; Pittsburgh, 5. At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 3; Boston, 0. At Washington—New York, 7; Washington, 3.

Sioux City's Corn Palace Opened.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Oct. 4.—The corn palace was formally opened last evening. Mayor J. H. Cleland represented the city and Senator C. H. Van Wyck delivered the dedicatory address before a large audience in the spacious dancing-hall. The principal streets of the city are so decorated and illuminated that they are almost as attractive as the palace itself.

Death of John B. Finch.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—John B. Finch, of Nebraska, the well-known temperance advocate, died suddenly last night in this city. Mr. Finch addressed a temperance meeting at Lynn last evening and took the train for Boston. On the way he was taken in a fit, and died soon after reaching Boston.

Held Responsible.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—In a suit brought by the State of Pennsylvania against S. M. Bailey, lately State Treasurer, the Supreme Court has decided that Bailey and his bondsmen are responsible for about $140,000, the money having been deposited by the Treasurer in banks that failed.

Kissane's Salvation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—In the suit of the Chemical National Bank of New York against the notorious William Kissane, alias William R. Rogers, United States Judge Sawyer Monday decided against the bank, declaring that the statute of limitations interfered in favor of Kissane.

Reception to the New Commander.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—Commander-in-Chief J. P. Rea, of the Grand Army of the Republic, reached here Monday night. He was given a hearty welcome, many of his comrades escorting him to his destination.

Mlle. Aimee, the Singer, Dead.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Mlle. Aimee, the singer, died from the effects of a surgical operation in this city yesterday.

In Brief and to The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful, Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular hours, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

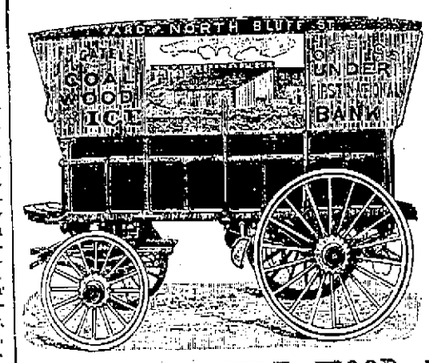

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

Old and reliable Medicines are the best to depend upon. Acker's Blood Elixir has been prescribed for years for all impurities of the Blood. In every form of Scrofulous, Syphilitic or Mercurial diseases, it is invaluable. For Rheumatism, has no equal.

"FOR OUR SAKES."

Sermon by Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D.

Riches and Glory of the Heavenly Prince—His Amazing Grace in Becoming Poor That Through His Poverty We Might Be Rich.

The text of Dr. Talmage's recent sermon at the Brooklyn Tabernacle was from the ninth verse of the eighth chapter of second Corinthians: "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor." The eminent divine said:

That all the worlds which on a cold winter's night make the heavens one great glitter are inhabitantless is an absurdity. Philosophers tell us that many of these worlds are too hot, or too cold, or too rarefied of atmosphere for residence. But, if not fit for human abode, they may be fit for beings different from and superior to ourselves. We are told that the world of Jupiter is changing until it is almost fit for creatures like the human race, and that Mars would do for the human family with a little change in the structure of the respiratory organs. But that there is a great world swung somewhere, vast beyond imagination, and that it is the headquarters of the universe and the metropolis of immensity, and has a population in numbers vast beyond all statistics and appointments of splendor beyond the capacity of canvas, or poem, or angel to describe, is as certain as the Bible is authentic. Perhaps some of the astronomers with their big telescopes have already caught a glimpse of it, not knowing what it is. We spell it with six letters and pronounce it Heaven.

That is where Prince Jesus lived nineteen centuries ago. He was the King's son. It was the old homestead of eternity, and all its castles were as old as God. Not a frost had ever chilled the air. Not a tear had ever rolled down the cheek of of one of its inhabitants. There had never been in it a headache, or a sidache, or a heartache. There had not been a funeral in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. There had never in all the land been woven a black vail, for there had never been any thing to mourn over. The passage of millions of years had not wrinkled or crippled or bedimmed any of its citizens. All the people were in a state of eternal adolescence. What floral and pomonic brightness! Gardens of perpetual bloom and orchards in unending fruitage. Had some spirit from another world entered and asked: What is sin? what is bereavement? what is sorrow? what is death? the brightest of the intelligences would have failed to give definition, though to study the question there were silence in Heaven for half an hour.

The Prince of whom I speak had honors, emoluments, acclamations, such as no other Prince, celestial or terrestrial, ever enjoyed. As He passed the street, the inhabitants took off from their brows garlands of white lilies and threw them in the way. He never entered any of the temples without all the worshipers rising up and bowing in obeisance. In all the processions of the high days He was the one who evoked the loudest welcome. Some times on foot, walking in loving talk with the humblest of the land, but at other times He took chariot, and among the 20,000 that David spoke of His was the swiftest and most flaming; or, as when John described Him, He took white palfrey with what prance of foot, and arch of neck, and roll of mane, and gleam of eye is only dimly suggested in the Apocalypse. He was not like other Princes, waiting for the father to die and then take the throne. When a few years ago an artist in Germany made a picture for the Royal gallery representing Emperor William on the throne, and the Crown Prince as having one foot on the step of the throne, Emperor William ordered the picture changed, and said: "Let the Prince keep his foot off the throne till I leave it."

Already enthroned was the Heavenly Prince, side by side with the Father. What a circle of dominion! What myrmidons of admirers! What unending round of glories! All the towers chimed the Prince's praises. Of all the inhabitants from the center of the city, on over the hills and clear down to the beach, against which the ocean of immensity rolls its billows, the Prince was the acknowledged favorite. No wonder my text says that "He was rich." Set all the diamonds of the earth in one scepter, build all the palaces of the earth in one Alhambra, gather all the pearls of the sea in one diadem, put all the values of the earth in one coin; the aggregate would not express his affluence.

Yes, Paul was right. Solomon had in gold £680,000,000 and in silver £1,029,000,377. But a greater than Solomon is here. Not the millionaire, but the quadrillionaire of Heaven. To describe His celestial surroundings the Bible uses all colors, gathering them in rainbow over the throne and setting them as agate in the temple window, and hoisting twelve of them into a wall from striped jasper at the base to transparent amethyst in the capstone, while between are green of emerald, and snow of pearl, and blue of sapphire, and yellow of topaz, gray of chrysoprasus, and flame of jacinth. All the loveliness of landscape in foliage, and river, and rill, and all enchantment aquamarine, the sea of glass mingled with fire as when the sun sinks in the Mediterranean. All the thrill of music, instrumental and vocal, harps, trumpets, doxologies. There stood the Prince, surrounded by those who had under their wings the velocity of millions of miles in a second, rich in love, rich in adoration, rich in power, rich in worship, rich in holiness, rich as God.

But one day there was a big disaster in a department of God's universe. A race fallen! A world in ruins! Our planet the scene of catastrophe! A globe swinging out into darkness, with mountains and seas and islands, an awful centrifugal of sin seeming to overpower the beautiful centripetal of righteousness, and from it a groan reached Heaven. Such a sound had never been heard there. Plenty of sweet sounds, but never an outcry of distress or an echo of agony. At that one groan the Prince rose from all the blissful circumjacence and started for the outer gate and descended into the night of this world. Out of what a bright harbor into what rough sea. "Stay with us," cried angel after angel and potentate after potentate. "No," said the Prince, "I can not stay; I must be off for that wreck of a world. I must stop that groan. I must hush that distress. I must fathom that way. I must redeem those nations. Farewell, thrones and temples, companions, cherubic, seraphic, archangelic! Excuse this absence, for I will come back again, carrying on my shoulder a ransomed world. Till this is done I choose earthly scoff to Heavenly acclamation, and a cattle-pen to a King's palace, frigid zone of earth to atmosphere of Celestial radiance. I have no time to lose, for hark ye to the groan that grows mightier while I wait. Farewell! farewell!"

"Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor."

Was there ever a contrast so overpowering as that between the noonday of Christ's celestial departure and the midnight of his earthly arrival? Sure enough, the angels were out that night in the sky, and especial meteor acted as escort, but all that was from other worlds, and not from this world. The earth made no demonstration of welcome. If one of the great princes of this world steps out at a depot cheers resound, and the bands play and the flags wave. But for the arrival of this missionary Prince from the skies not a torch flared, not a trumpet blew, not a plume fluttered. All the music and the pomp were overhead. Our world opened for Him nothing better than a barn door. The rajah of Cashmere sent to Victoria a bedstead of carved gold and a canopy that cost $750,000, but the world had for the Prince of Heaven and earth only a litter of straw. The crown jewels in the Tower of London amount to $15,000,000, but this member of eternal royalty had nowhere to lay His head.

To know how poor He was, ask the camel drivers, ask the shepherds, ask Mary, ask the three wise men of the east who afterward came there, young Caspar and middle-aged Balthasar and old Melchoir. To know how poor He was, examine all the records of real estate in all that oriental country, and see what vineyard, or what house, or what field He owned. Not one. Of what mortgage was He the mortgagee? Of what tenement was He the landlord? Of what lease was he the lessee? Who ever paid Him rent? Not owning the boat on which He sailed, or the beast on which He rode, or the pillow on which He slept. He had so little estate that in order to pay His tax He had to perform a miracle, putting the amount of the assessment in a fish's mouth and having it hauled ashore. And after His death the world rushed in to take an inventory of His goods, and the entire aggregate was the garments He had worn, sleeping in them by night and traveling in them by day, bearing on them the dust of the highway and the saturation of the sea. Paul in my text did not go far from hitting the mark, did he, when he said of the missionary Prince: "For your sakes He became poor?"

The world could have treated Him better if it had chosen. It had all the means for making His earthly condition comfortable. Only a few years before when Pompey, the General, arrived at Brindisi he was greeted with arches and a costly column, which celebrated the 12,000,000 people whom he had killed or conquered, and he was allowed to wear his triumphal robes in the Senate. The world had applause for imperial butchers, but buffeting for the Prince of Peace. Plenty of golden chalices for the favored to drink out of, but our Prince must put His lips to the bucket of the well by the roadside after He had begged for a drink. Poor? Born in another man's barn and eating at another man's table, and cruising the lake in another man's fishing smack, and buried in another man's mausoleum.

Four inspired authors wrote His biography, and innumerable lives of Christ have been published, but He composed His autobiography in a most compressed way: He said: "I have trodden the wine press alone." Poor in the estimation of nearly all the prosperous classes, they called Him Sabbath-breaker, wine-bibber, traitor, blasphemer, and ransacked the dictionary of opprobrium from lid to lid to express their detestation. I can think now of only two well-to-do men who espoused His cause—Nicodemus and Joseph of Arimathea. His friends for the most part were people who, in that climate where ophthalmy or inflammation of the eyeball sweeps ever and anon as a scourge, had become blind, sick people who were anxious to get well, and troubled people in whose families there was some one dead or dying. If He had a purse at all it was empty, or we would have heard what was done with the contents at the post-mortem. Poor? The pigeon in the dove cote, the rabbit in its burrow, the silk worm in its cocoon, the bee in its hive, is better provided for, better off, better sheltered. Aye, the brute creation has a home on earth, which Christ has not.

"If on windy days the raven
Gambol like a dancing skiff,
Not the less he loves his haven
On the bosom of the cliff.
If almost with eagle pinion
O'er the Alps the chamois roam,
Yet he has some small dominion
Which no doubt he calls his home."

But the Crown Prince of all Heavenly dominion has less than the raven, less than the chamois, for He was homeless. Aye, in the history of the universe there is no other instance of such coming down. Who can count the miles from the top of the throne to the bottom of the cross? Cleopatra, giving a banquet to Antony, took a pearl worth $100,000 and dissolved it in vinegar and swallowed it. But when our Prince, according to the evangelist, in His last hours took the vinegar, in it had been dissolved all the pearls of His Heavenly royalty. Down until there was no other depth for Him to touch, troubled until there was no other harassment to suffer, poor until there was no other pauperism to torture. Billions of dollars spent in wars to destroy men, who will furnish the statistics of the value of that precious blood that was shed to save us? "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor."

Only those who study this text in two places can fully reach its power—the Holy Land of Asia Minor and the Holy Land of Heaven. How should I like some day to take a drink out of Jacob's well, and take a sail on Galilee, and read the Sermon on the Mount while standing on Olivet, and see the wilderness where Christ was tempted, and be some afternoon on Calvary about three o'clock, the hour at which closed the crucifixion, and sit under the sycamores and by the side of the brooks, and think and dream and pray about the poverty of Him who came our souls to save. But you and I will probably be denied that, and so here, in another continent and in another hemisphere, and in scenes as different as possible, we recount as well as we may how poor our Heavenly Prince became. And in the other Holy Land above we may all study the riches that He left behind when He started for earthly expedition. Come, let us bargain to meet each other at the door of the Father's mansion, or on the bank of the river just where it rolls from under the throne, or at the outside gate. Jesus got the contrast by exchanging that world for this; we will get it by exchanging this world for that. There and then you will understand more of the wonders of the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ who, "though He was rich, yet for your sakes became poor."

Yes, grace, free grace, sovereign grace, omnipotent grace. Among the thousands of words of the language there is no more queenly word. It means free and unmerited kindness. My text has no monopoly of the word. One hundred and twenty-nine times does the Bible eulogize grace. It is a door swung wide open to let into the pardon of God all the millions who choose to enter it. John Newton sang of it when he wrote:

"Amazing grace, how sweet the sound,
That saved a wretch like me."

Philip Doddridge put it into all hymnology when he wrote:

"Grace! 'tis a charming sound,
Harmonious to the ear!
Heaven with the echo shall resound
And all the world shall hear."

One of John Bunyan's great books is entitled "Abounding Grace." "It is all of grace that I am saved" has been on the lips of hundreds of dying Christians. The boy Sammy was right when, being examined for admission into church membership, he was asked: "Whose work was your salvation?" and he answered: "Part mine and part God's." Then the examiner asked: "What part did you do, Sammy?" and the answer was: "I opposed God all I could and He did the rest!" Oh, the height of it, the depth of it, the length of it, the breadth of it, the grace of God! Mr. Fletcher, having written a pamphlet that pleased the King, the King offered to compensate him, and Fletcher answered: "There is only one thing I want, and that is more grace." Yes, my blood-bought hearers, grace to live by and grace to die by. Grace that saved the publican, that saved Lydia, that saved the dying thief, that saved the jailer, that saved me. But the riches of that grace will not be fully understood until Heaven breaks in upon the soul.

An old Scotchman, who had been a soldier in one of the European wars, was sick and dying in one of our American hospitals. His one desire was to see Scotland and his old home, and once again walk the heather of the highlands, and hear the bagpipes of the Scotch regiments. The night that the old Scotch soldier died a young man, somewhat reckless but kind-hearted, got a company of musicians to come and play under the old soldier's window, and among the instruments there was a bagpipe. The instant that the musician began the dying old man in delirium said: "What's that? what's that? Why, it's the regiment coming home. That's the tune; yes, that's the tune. Thank God, I have got home once more!" "Bonny Scotland," and "Bonny Doon" were the last words he uttered as he passed up to the highlands of the better country.

And there are here to-day hundreds homesick for Heaven; some because you have so many bereavements, some because you have so many temptations, some because you have so many ailments; homesick, very homesick, for the fatherland of Heaven, and the music that you want to hear now is the song of free grace, and the music you want to hear when you die is free grace, and forever before the throne of God you will sing of the "grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, who, though He was rich, for your sakes became poor."

Yes, yes; for your sakes! It was not on pleasure excursion that He came, for it was all pain. It was not on astronomical exploration, for He knew this world as well before He alighted as afterward. It was not because He was compelled to come, for He volunteered. It was not because it was easy, for He knew that it would be thorn, and spike, and hunger, and thirst, and vociferation of angry mobs. For your sakes! Wipe away your tears. To forgive your wrongdoing, to companionship your loneliness, to soothe your sorrows, to sit with you by the new-made grave, to bind up your wounds in the ugly battle with the world and bring you home at last, kindling up the mists that fall on your dying vision with the sunlight of a glorious morn. For your sakes! No, I will change that. Paul will not care, and Christ will not care if I change it, for I must get into the blessedness of the text myself, and so I say: "For our sakes!" For we all have our temptations, and bereavements, and conflicts. For our sakes! We who deserve for our sins to be expatriated into a world as much poorer than this earth was poorer than Heaven. For our sakes!

But what a fruitful coming down to take us gloriously up. When Artaxerxes was hunting Tirebazus, who was attending him, showed the King a rent in his garment. The King said: "How shall I mend it?" "By giving it to me," said Tirebazus. Then the King gave him the robe, but commanded him never to wear it as it would be inappropriate. See the startling and comforting fact, while our Prince throws off the habit He not only allows us to wear it, but commands us to wear it, and it will become us well, and for the poverties of our spiritual state we may put on the splendors of Heavenly regalement. For our sakes! Oh, the personality of this religion! Not an abstraction, not an arch under which we walk to behold elaborate masonry, not an ice castle like that which Empress Elizabeth, of Russia, over one hundred years ago, ordered constructed, winter with its trowel of crystal cementing the huge blocks that had been quarried from the frozen rivers of the north, but a father's house with a wide hearth crackling a hearty welcome. A religion of warmth and inspiration, the light, the cheer, something we can take into our hearts, and homes and business, and recreations, and joys, and sorrows. Not an unmanageable gift like the galley presented to Ptolemy, which required 4,000 men to row, and its draught of water was so great that it could not come near the shore, but something you can run up any stream of annoyance, however shallow. Enrichment now, enrichment forever!

Right about face! for you are going in the wrong direction. While you are in a favorable mood for it, enter into life. Here and just now decide every thing that makes for peace and Heaven. Agassiz says that he has stood at one place in the Alps where he could throw a chip into the water in one direction, and it would roll on into the German Ocean, or he could throw a chip into the water in another direction, and it would reach the Black Sea by the Danube, or he could throw a chip in another direction, and it would enter the Mediterranean by the Rhone. How far apart the Mediterranean, and the Black Sea, and the German Ocean! Standing to-day on this Alps of Gospel privilege, you can project your soul into right currents, and it will roll on into the ocean of life, or project it in the wrong direction, and it will roll into the sea of death. But how far apart the two distances?

May God help us to appreciate more and more the momentous meaning of our text! The seven wise men of Greece were chiefly known each for one apophthegm: Solon for the saying: "Know thyself;" Periander for the saying: "Nothing is impossible to industry;" Chilo for the saying: "Consider the end;" Thayles for the saying: "Suretyship is the precursor of ruin." And Paul, distinguished for a thousand utterances, might well afford to be memorable for the saying: "You know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though He was rich, yet for your sakes became poor, that ye through His poverty might be rich."

Scratched 28 Years

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in spots not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took ... and ... Sarsaparillas over one year and a half but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura remedies too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases,") but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose, I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know, write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

DENNIS DOWNING,

Catharral Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed, to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Sanford's Radical cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catharral Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

—Wednesday the Rock county W. C. T. U. will hold its annual meeting. The meeting will be in the Congregational church of this city and will continue Wednesday afternoon and evening and the most of Thursday.

—Among the mysterious and exceedingly pleasing exhibits at the Milwaukee Exposition is one known as the "Mysterious Lady." A person talks to the curious contrivance and receives a reply; a conversation may be carried on for hours; it is unquestionably a lady's voice that replies to the speaker. But who she is, where she is, or how she does it, no one is able to discover.

—"Please ma'am, let me take a looking glass a minute, will you? I slept on top of a fast freight last night and got a cinder in my eye." So wailed a tramp to a fourth ward woman yesterday and she, overcome with pity, let him take the glass. Twelve hours later she found it in a second hand store. The tramp had gone there presumably to get more help in removing the cinder.

—Relations between the Edgerton Reporter and the Lancaster, (Pa.) New Era seem to be badly strained. This week the New Era publishes the tobacco markets from the Reporter and follows with this comment: "More willful lying was, perhaps, never done, nor were ever more lies crowded into the same number of lines than are to be found in the above extract." Brother Coon should load his double-barrel shot gun and start for Pennsylvania at once.

INSTALLING A PASTOR.

The Services at the Congregational Church To-day.

At half past past two this afternoon delegates from the Congregational churches of this district began their work of installing the Rev. Sedgwick P. Wilder, to the pulpit of the Frst Congregational church of this city.

Clergy and lay delegates were present from most of the charges in the southern part of the state. The afternoon meeting was devoted principally to a consideration of the call extended to Mr. Wilder, and of his qualifications for the position offered.

The meeting was called to order by Prof. Blaisdell, of Beloit. The Rev. Mr. Clarke, of Clinton, was chosen secretary, and proceeded to make out a roll of those present. The permanent moderator decided upon was Dr. Higley, of the Second Congregational church of Beloit.

This evening at half-past seven there will be another meeting, for which the order of exercises as now arranged is as follows:

Anthem.
Minutes of Council.
Invocation and Spiritual Reading.
Sermon....Rev. J. J. Blaisdell, D. D.
Anthem.
Installing Prayer....Rev. J. Collie, D. D.
Charge to Pastor....Rev. H. P. Higley, D. D.

ODD FELLOWS ATTENTION.

The members of Janesville City Lodge No. 90, I. O. O. F., will assemble at the lodge room at 1:30 o'clock sharp to-morrow afternoon, for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late brother, Samuel Fathers. The members of No. 14, as well as all other members of the order in the city, are respectfully invited to join with us in attending the funeral.

B. F. BLANCHARD, N. G.

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL FATHERS.

The many friends of Samuel Fathers were deeply surprised last evening at learning of his death, which occurred at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ann Fathers, widow of the late John Fathers, at the corner of North Bluff street and Pease Court, at about five o'clock last evening. But very few of his friends, outside of the family circle, were aware of his dangerous illness, and therefore the announcement of his death was not only sudden but sad to all.

Mr. Fathers was born in London, England, June 23d, 1854, and was therefore at the time of his death aged 33 years, 3 months and 10 days. In 1857, when only three years of age, he came to America with his parents, and in 1860 they settle in Janesville.

At the age of sixteen deceased entered the employ of the late Wm. Sillito, remaining with him until 1884, when he purchased the business of his employer, conducting the business since that time by himself. During the long time he was in the employ of Mr. Sillito, he always took an active interest in all that pertained to his employer's business and was in later years his trusted and confidential business manager. Quiet and unassuming in his manner, always polite and ever mindful of the rights of others, never engaging in personal disputes, he held every one with whom he met his personal friend.

Mr. Fathers was not of robust health, having long been a sufferer with asthma. A few days ago he was taken with a severe attack of dropsy of the heart, and rapidly grew worse until relieved by death last evening. He was unmarried. He leaves a widowed mother, one sister, Miss Nellie, and two brothers William and James A. Fathers, all of this city, to mourn the death of a dutiful son and a kind-hearted brother. Few indeed, possessed more steadfast friends than he.

He was a faithful member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, a member of Janesville City Lodge No. 90, and also of Rock River Encampment No. 3.

The funeral will be held from the house on North Bluff street at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, and will be conducted by the Odd Fellows.

DAVID KIRKWOOD'S FUNERAL.

It Takes Place at the Home of John Kirk in this City.

The funeral of the late David Kirkwood, the locomotive fireman who was killed in the Carey Station accident on Saturday last, took place from the residence of Mr. John Kirk, South River street, at two o'clock this afternoon. There was a large attendance, the Masons, Janesville Lodge No. 55, turning out in a body with regalia, a large number of railway employes and many sympathizing friends being present.

The services at the house were conducted by the Rev. W. F. Brown, of the Presbyterian church, and were very impressive. At the conclusion of these services the remains were taken in charge by the Masonic order and conveyed to Oak Hill cemetery for interment, Mr. Oscar F. Nowlan being the marshal.

At the cemetery the remains were consigned to their last resting place in accordance with the beautiful ritual of the order, S. B. Kenyon being Grand Master, and Thomas E. Cook, chaplain. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. H. Roberts, C. A. Palmer, John Heath, S. Hotelling, J. T. Wilcox, and O. D. Sabin.

THEY WANT TOO MUCH.

Tobacco Men Expect to Buy Good Leaf For the Price of Poor.

Said one of the initiated ones to a New York Journal reporter: "Business in leaf would be a great deal more active now if it were not for the fact that buyers, especially manufacturers, are still clinging to figures at which tobacco was sold at a loss for many years past. They want binders for about 7 cents, and nice, long, medium grade wrappers for 12 to 15 cents, and something extra fine, something that'll knock spots out of Sumatra for about 25 to 30 cents. Now, if we ask for such tobacco from 25 to 50 per cent more, there is trouble, and sales are made with difficulty and only in small parcels. Of course buyers will gradually get used to the new figures and business will be easier later on.

Wisconsin tobacco this year has been very fortunate. Frosts have not touched it, nor has hail cut its leaves. It has developed since harvest a color and smoothness that give abundant promise of good prices and quick sales.

A SUCCESSFUL PAPER.

For a few days the Chicago Herald has been an eight page paper instead of a four page. The change is to be permanent, and the price to remain at two cents.

The Herald has been established only six years, but has been phenomenally successful. It is now the New York Sun of the west, a distinction due in great measure to the live, active young men at its head. Manager James W. Scott especially is a thorough newspaper man in every sense of the word, and under his direction the Herald cannot help but improve still more as the weeks go by.

PERSONAL.

—Miss M. E. Gould, of the third ward, is visiting for a few days with friends in Chicago.

—Miss Tryon, of Batavia, New York, is in the city, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. A. A. Jackson, Washington street, first ward.

—Rev. T. DeWitt Peake, pastor of Court Street M. E. church, and Rev. Thomas Walker, pastor of the First M. E. church, went to Appleton on the 1:20 p. m. Green Bay express, to attend the Wisconsin conference.

Imitators and Impostors.

The unequalled success of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS as an external remedy has stimulated unscrupulous parties to put forth imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of Allcock's. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuine and original porous plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merits unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority to or equality with Allcock's a false pretense.

The ablest medical practioners and chemists and thousand of grateful patients unite in declaring ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS the best external remedy known.

Young Men that Draw the Line Only at a Mortgaged Rail-Road Engine.

They Carry Off a Heavy Solder Furnace and Come Back for a Hydrant.

Stealing a solder furnace while the furnace was in full blast is what a band of fourth ward hoodlums did two or three nights ago.

The furnace belonged to the water works contractors. It was left standing at the side of the street one night when the men quit work and a few minutes later several young men drove up in a wagon loaded in the furnace, fire and all, and hurried away. They made little noise and excited no suspicion, people supposing them to be employes of Supt. Williams.

The furnace was finally recovered but the thieves have not yet been caught. They sold out to a dealer in old iron and the ring-loader skipped town to wait until matters cooled down.

It is believed that the gang who took the furnace is the same that has been stealing the cast-iron valve covers. These covers form the shafts of the water-works hydrants and are distributed on alternate corners all over the city. They have disappeared so fast that active measures to prevent further loss have become decidedly necessary.

Thieves that will steal part of a water-works plant are something rather out of the usual run. They show that Janesville is nothing if not original.

THE GALBRAITH BRO'S SUIT.

The United States Government to Prosecute the Case to Final Judgment.

According to the Madison Democrat, Assistant United States Attorney Rogers has received instructions from the department of justice, at Washington, to the effect that the department concurs in the opinion that Galbraith Brothers are lawfully indebted to the United States government, in the sum of $17,000, as unpaid government duties, on their imported horses, for the year ending July 2, 1887. The case will be prosecuted to final judgment without delay.

To the general public this case is an enigma. The import duties were first paid by the Galbraith Bros. under protest, and afterwards were returned by the treasury department, and the latter department placed a construction on the law allowing this firm and others similarly situated, to import their horses duty free. May be, after a while, the department of justice will receive the official information from the treasury department, provided the red tape holds out.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

Brief Session of the Common Council Last Evening.

A regular meeting of the common council was held at the council chamber last evening. His Hon, Mayor Winans, and Mr. President Fathers being absent, City Clerk Fenton called the meeting to order, and upon calling the roll all the aldermen answered to their names except Alds. Casey, Fathers, Judd and Thorough good.

On motion of Ald. Carpenter, Ald. J. B. McLean was chosen president pro tem.

Ald. C. C. McLean—On account of the death of a brother of the president of this council, Mr. President, I move that the council adjourn until next Monday evening.

The motion was unanimously adopted, and the council was declared adjourned accordingly.

PATTI ROSA AS "BOB."

Freds Marsden's comedy, "Bob" is hardly his best and this disadvantage marred Patti Rosa last night. Still, the audince was well pleased and applauded generously.

Patti Rosa herself is a soubrette of the type known as the tomboy. She romps through her part with a spirit that won her several recalls and shows as much strength in heavy acting as she does in comedy.

The company last night was an excellent one. Thomas M. Hardy as "Wybert Romayne, Joseph M. Francoeur as "Victor Dulpins," and Miss Tillie Shields as "Mrs. Major Elden," especially received much praise. The gallery gods in particular found it necessary to shout their appreciation of the various parts in a way that almost loosened the frescoed border of the proscenium.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 41 degrees above zero. Clear, with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 54 degrees above zero. Clear with west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 50 and 70 degrees above zero.

ALL ODD FELLOWS.

A full attendance is requested at Odd Fellows hall to-night, to arrange for the funeral of the late Brother Samuel Fathers, which will take place at the house at 2 o'clock p. m. to-morrow. Odd Fellows will meet at the hall at 1 p. m. sharp. B. F. BLANCHARD, N. G.

EMERALD GROVE.

—Mr. D. A. Cummings still continues low.

—Mrs. Robert Jones has been seriously ill for some time.

—Soapine the great dirt remover, at Hasting's. Try it.

—Airis has done a splendid job of plastering on the new church.

—We note that Robert W. Jones is collecting cream for the Somerville creamery.

—Rev J. B. Maxham preached his last sermon here last Sabbath before going to conference.

—Mrs. Hemmings, of Janesville, has been visiting at Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Jones.

—Rev. R. L. Cheney, of Prairie du Chien, preached in the Congregational church on Sabbath morning last.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings returned on Friday from Dakota, having been gone just one month.

—Mr. Winfield Scott, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Joel Proctor, attended divine service at the Grove Sunday.

—In consequence of the heavy rains and mud, the social at Mr. Thomas Barlass' is postponed to Friday of this week. Let all attend.

—Rev. D. B. Jackson attended the State Convention of Congregational churches held at Whitewater last week.

—Hatch, the itinerating tanner is on his circuit again and was in the grove the first of the week. His advent means the rejuvenation of old tea kettles, tin pans, etc., thus saving the pockets and patience of thrifty housewives.

—Another of our young men, Mr. John T. Barlass caught the matrimonial mania and "stepped off" on Tuesday of last week. His bride is Miss Ellen B., daughter of Mrs. Christina Scott, of LaPrairie. The bridal couple visited Chicago on their wedding tour. They have the hearty congratulations of their many friends.

—We are glad to notice the arrival of Mr. W. J. Jones from Los Angeles, Cal., on Saturday last. He left here in February, and though visiting other points in California, has spent most of the time at Los Angeles, where he engaged in the egg business. Judging from his appearance, California air has done him no harm, and we warmly welcome him back again.

LA PRAIRIE.

—Mr. J. E. Gleason lost a valuable horse a fewdays ago from inflamation of the lungs.

—Some of our farmers who moved into town last fall are contemplating moving back on their farms again having got tired of city life.

—Although farmers have to sell cattle for a ruinous price, they still have to pay the same high price for beef, which is neither just nor fair, and it wounld be no more than right for them to make a stand against it and demand a reduction in price at the same ratio they have been compelled to sell for.

—Married, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wm. C. Scott, Tuesday evening, Sept. 27th, by the Rev. D. B. Jackson, of Emerald Grove, Mr. John Barlass, of Harmony, and Miss Helen C. Scott, of LaPrairie. The newly married couple took the morning train for Chicago, where they will spend a few days and will then return and make their home in the town of Harmony. Both young people are well known and their many friends wish them many years of happiness.

How to Select a Wife.

Good health, good morals, good sense and good temper, are the four essentials for a good wife. These are the indispensables. After them come the minor advantages of good looks, accomplishments, family position, etc. With the first four, married life will be comfortable and happy. Lacking either, it will be in more or less degree a failure. Upon good health depends largely good temper and good looks, and to some extent good sense also, as the best mind must be affected more or less by the weakness and whims attendant on frail health. Young man, if your wife is falling into a state of invilidism, first of all things try to restore her health. If she is troubled with debiliating female weaknesses, buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will cure her.

A Great Combination of Talent.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 4.—It was given out yesterday that the Booth and Barrett combination completed arrangements while playing at Minneapolis for one of the most important deals in the theatrical world. Mary Anderson is to join the combination, and one of the leading theaters of New York is to be leased for a period of two years.

General Terry on the Crow Indian Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—General Terry has telegraphed to the War Department of the Crow Indian troubles in Montana. In his opinion the military force is adequate, as the Indians are not ordinarily troublesome, and will probably surrender as soon as the present excitement has abated.

More Cholera at New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Four more cases of cholera have developed on Hoffman Island among the passengers of the steamship Alesia. The patients were removed to Swinburne Island. There are fourteen cases under treatment.

Physicians recommend Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, when all other medicines fail, as a certain cure for bronchitis, sore throat and coughs or colds of long standing. For sale by druggists, 25c.

WISCONSIN NEWS.

Items of Interest from Various Parts of the State.

The new ladies' hall at Ripon college will be enclosed this fall.

The receipts at the Fond du Lac fair were $800 less than expenses.

U. Hall, of Waukau, owns a turkey that laid 103 eggs this season.

Winnebago county has 382 pensioners drawing $11,530.75 every quarter.

The August milk at the Spring Prairie, Walworth county, cheese factory netted the patrons 88 cents per 100 pounds.

During the week ending Sept. 28, there were shipped from Darlington 13,000 pounds of butter and eggs and 7,510 pounds of cheese.

Mrs. Margaret Baumeister died at Burlington on Saturday, leaving six children, forty grandchildren and fifteen great grandchildren. She was 90 years of age.

C. R. Beach, of Whitewater, says: "The yearly product of the dairies of Wisconsin amounts to over $20,000,000. I think I may say three-fourths of this comes from pasture grass."

A Stockbridge fisherman lost $300 in gold by the capsizing of his fishing smack. He was on his way across Lake Winnebago to deposit the money in a Neenah bank.

Mrs. Moses McClay, of Cambridge, was badly burned about the face and head by the explosion of a package of gunpowder which she put in the stove, thinking it to be but seed.

John Scroggins, colored, was sentenced to prison for fifteen years on conviction of a criminal assault upon Mrs. Mary Olday, in the town of Montrose, Dane county. He was a grader on the Chicago, Madison & Northern railway.

Salmon Sall, a Swede, aged 27, was arrested at the Montreal mine, Ashland, Monday, and taken to Sycamore, Illinois, by the sheriff of De Kalb county, on a requisition. He is said to have two wives, one in southern Wisconsin and one in Illinois.

The rapid growth of black walnut trees has been noticed in a number set on the farm of H. Crosby, in the town of Lake Mills. They were planted 12 years ago and now measure two feet in circumference. They were heavily laden with nuts this year.

The parties who attempted to drive William Voegele from the town of Greenwood have been indicted for the alleged offense. They are: Heney Voss, chairman of the town; Rev. Charles Myers, Lutheran minister; Theo. Oldinger, F. Haues, W. M. Fetchtner, Jr., F. Sanflenburger.

The cranberry marshes tributary to Berlin yielded about 8,000 barrels. The Sacket marsh had the best crop it has had for some time. The Fitch marsh had less than half the crop of last year. Carey's marsh had a better crop than usual. The smaller marshes showed better proportionate returns this season than the large ones.

Caleb Rowell, of Abrams, Oconto county, this spring had six swarms of bees, which have multiplied themselves until he now has forty-three swarms. They have up to the present time produced 228 pounds of honey, with eleven hives untouched. Mr. R. expects that the entire yield of honey for the year will exceed 400 pounds.

Shot His Enemy.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4.—W. S. F. Milburn, a leading Republican of Greenville, and a live worker in behalf of prohibition during the campaign just closed, shot and killed Will Ward, a saloon-keeper at that place Saturday night. The difficulty was caused by threats of Ward on Milburn's life for language used by the latter in a "dry" speech. The murderer is under arrest.

Wine-Making in Wisconsin.

PALMYRA, Wis., Oct. 4.—The comparatively new Wisconsin industry of wine-making from home-grown grapes is well under way here. Over 700 gallons of wine, from pure grape-juice, has already been made this season from the fruit of one vineyard. The grape yield here was exceptionally large and from the first blossoming.

Murder of a Widow.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Sunday morning at Islip, L. I., the mutilated body of Mrs. Francis Hawkins, a wealthy widow of the neighborhood, was found hidden in a clump of bushes. Suspicion points to F. Axbury Hawkins, the dead lady's elder son, as the murderer.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

Interesting Bits of Information Put in Convenient Shape for the Hurried Reader.

The New York Herald has commenced publishing a daily edition in Paris.

Twenty-three new cases of cholera and sixteen deaths were reported at Messina, Sicily, Monday.

E. H. Hartington, of New York, has been elected vice-president of the Illinois Central railroad and will make his headquarters in Chicago.

Late reports confirm the showing of the earlier returns, which indicated that prohibition has been defeated in Tennessee by about 25,000 majority.

A child, without eyes, was born Monday to the wife of Mr. Bohn, of Dubuque, Ia. There are said to be no indications whatever of an optical formation.

The coinage executed by the Government during September was as follows: Gold coin, $1,620,537; silver dollars, $3,100,040; fractional silver, $101,024.

A half dozen incendiary fires have been set at Mason City, Ia., recently. One arrest is reported, and strenuous efforts are being made to capture other incendiaries.

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed by one of the Chicago police justices Monday upon a culprit 8 years old, who had been guilty of jumping on a moving cable-car.

It was announced Monday in the Rock River conference at Rockford, Ill., that the great telescope of Dearborn Observatory had become the property of the Northwestern University at Evanston.

An accommodation train on the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago road was wrecked by a cow Monday morning at Salem, Ind., all the passengers being more or less hurt. It is believed that two persons are fatally hurt.

SLAIN BY AN EXPLOSION.

The Boiler of a St. Louis Flour-Mill Bursts, Killing Four People.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—Three men and a woman were killed outright and one badly injured by an explosion in the engine-room of the George P. Plant Milling Company's flouring mill, Chauteau avenue and Main street, at 7:45 yesterday morning. Following are the names of the victims: Henry Temme, George Coleman, Thomas Rivers and Rivers' wife, who had just brought her husband's breakfast.

Ben Myers, the engineer, was terribly bruised and scalded, but may recover. The bodies of some of the victims were blown from fifty to 100 feet, and the wreck of the engine-room was complete. The cause of the explosion is yet a mystery.

Relic of a Wreck.

RACINE, Wis., Oct. 4.—Several boys standing on the beach near Eighth street found a relic of the ill-fated Goodrich steamer, Alpena, which was wrecked during the storm of October 16 and 17, in 1880. It was the head of a cot made of canvass, three feet three inches wide with two pieces of oak wood at the ends. In the center was marked the words in black ink Steamer Alpena, No. 10. Eighty persons lost their lives by the wreck. Only three or four bodies, and very few pieces of the wreck ever found their way ashore.

Georgia's Convicts.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—It is expected that as a result of Governor Gordon's investigation of the treatment of convicts by the lessees of convict labor, the Governor will declare the lease forfeited. The evidence shows that the convicts were most inhumanly treated and half-starved, and that gross immorality prevailed. The Legislature will authorize the employment of the convicts upon a large farm.

A Useful Precaution.

It is a useful precaution for the tourist, the commercial traveler, or the emigrant to the west, to take along Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Invalids who travel by steamboat or rail should provide themselves with it, in order to prevent or remedy the nausea which the jarring and vibration of vehicles in transitu often causes them. Vastly preferable is it for this simple, but needful purpose, to the heady unmedicated stimulants of commerce. On board ship, it not only remedies sea sickness, but neutralizes the pernicious effects of water slightly brackish, which, if unqualified, is apt to give rise to irregularities of the bowels, cramps in the abdominal region, and dyspepsia. To the aerial poison of malaria it is an efficient antidote. Sick headache, heartburn, and wind upon the stomach, are properly banished by it. It healthfully stimulates the kidneys and bladder, and nullifies the early symptoms of rheumatism.
